

let's talk

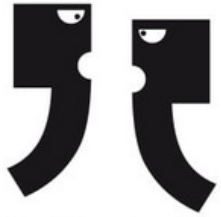

Imagine you are a crazy inventor and you want to sell your prototype to a group of prospective sponsors. Persuade them that your invention is a must-have and it is going to be a successful bestseller.

You will need a lot of creativity and a sense of humour!

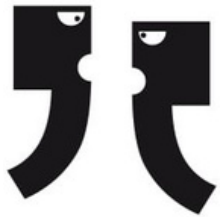

let's talk

a bike that doesn't turn

let's talk

a one-string guitar

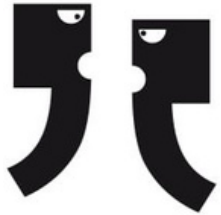

let's talk

a kettle that doesn't boil
water

let's talk

a pair of shoes without soles

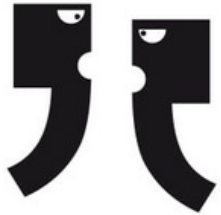

let's talk

a CD with only
one track
recorded 15
times in a row

let's talk

a pen without ink

let's talk

a computer
that doesn't connect to the Internet

let's talk

matches that don't light

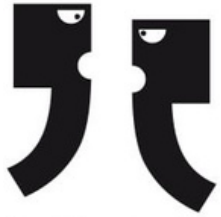

let's talk

a rubber
eraser that doesn't erase
anything

let's talk

a motorcycle helmet made of silk

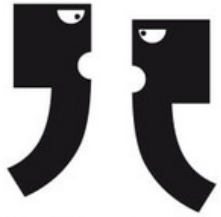

let's talk

a wallet that damages
money

let's talk

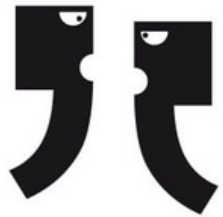

face tissues made of hair

let's talk

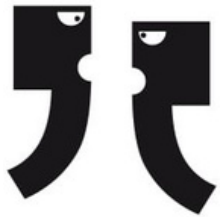

a clock without hands

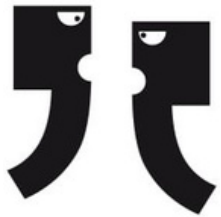

let's talk

a water- powered hair dryer

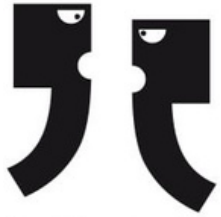

let's talk

a spiky yoga mat

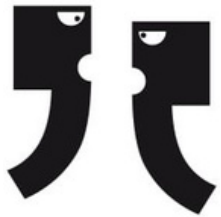

let's talk

a garlic- flavoured chewing gum

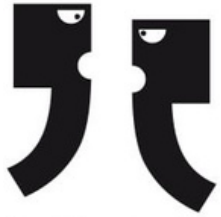

let's talk

a school bus without windows

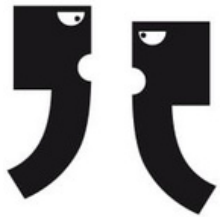

let's talk

a swimming cap made of wool

let's talk

a car horn
that sounds
like a pigeon

let's talk

a tracksuit
that melts on a sweaty body